The newly elected presidents and council delegates from all PTA units as well as council officers and committee chairmen should attend this meeting as many important items are scheduled and action of the council will be discussed and voted on by these members.

Local Lions Club Award

Scholarships/Trip To Scouts

The Agawam Lions Club conducted their June meeting at the Polish American Club on Southwick St., Feeding Hills at 7 p.m. on June 3. The meeting was to honor those boys selected as the five outstanding Boy Scouts of Agawam.

All Scouts in Agawam were eligible for five scholarships to participate in the Philmont Expedition to be held at the spectacular Philmont Scout Reservation in Cimarron, New Mexico, in August. The competition sponsored by the Lions featuring a $100 Scholarship for each boy was open to all registered Scouts in Agawam who were First Class and at least 14 years of age.

On the basis of Scouting skills, attitude, religious award, citizenship and advancement five boys were chosen. The boys to be honored are: Robert Liptak, 15, of 31 Brookline Ave., Feeding Hills, a Life Scout of Troop 75; Tom Gentile, 16, of 346 Springfield St., an Eagle Scout with 3 Palms of Troop 79; Kenneth Wilson, 16, of 5 Autumn St., a Life Scout of Troop 82; John Paveloski Jr., 16, of 82 South Alhambra Cir., a Life Scout of Troop 89; and Mark McLaughlin, 16, of 98 Federal St. Ext., a Life Scout of Troop 82, all of Agawam.

For Fathers

Award Winning Chicken Dish

Fathers deserve the best. And as we make preparations for honoring them on Sunday, June 21, one of the most important considerations should be the dinner menu for the day.

The official dish for Father's Day is chicken. This is an ideal choice because good tasting chicken is also good for family well-being. It is low in calories, cholesterol and fat. In addition to being an ideal food for weight watchers, it is helpful in preventing heart attacks and other coronary problems. Also, this traditional Sunday dish is high in protein, vitamins and minerals.

Here is the prize recipe for Father's Day, 1970. It is a National Chicken Cooking Contest winner that Chef Edmund Kaspas of New York's Americana Hotel has selected to be served at the Annual National Father of the Year Awards Luncheon.

Chicken Imperial

|----------------------------------|-----------------------------------|
| 2 broiler-fryer chickens, halved | 1 teaspoon curry powder |
| 1 1/2 teaspoons salt | 1 teaspoon dried leaf oregano |
| 1/4 cup margarine | 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard |
| 1/3 cup dry sherry | 1/2 teaspoon garlic powder |
| 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce | 1/4 teaspoon paprika |
| | 1/8 teaspoon Tabasco pepper sauce |

Sprinkle both sides of chicken with salt. Place in large shallow baking pan. Mix remaining ingredients in small sauceman; stir over medium heat until margarine melts and mixture is smooth. Remove from heat; brush generously over chicken. Bake chicken in moderate oven (350°) for 1 to 1 1/2 hours or until tender, basting and turning chicken every 10 to 15 minutes. Garnish with spiced peaches and parsley. Makes 4 servings.

Note: For an extra flair prepare this recipe with boned chicken breasts.

The New Elegance

Finding out what women want is Berenice Connor's business. A long-time editor of leading magazines, she conducts national homemaker conferences and is a consultant to John-H. Breck, Inc., on the beauty needs of today's women.

My slogan has always been: look your age—beautifully. But, during the past few years, I admit, it's been difficult to live up to. With fashion and beauty's explosive emphasis on youth, most of us over-thirties were left out in the cold. And this trend made two tendencies of the mature woman more evident: that of overlooking and overlooking your age.

We've all seen examples of the mature woman decked out in mini skirt and garish make-up, with a mop of teased hair perching atop her head. The flip side of the coin was the woman with skirt lengths dragging below her knees, dressed in dark, drab, dowdy clothes, topped off by a graying, terribly-out-of-date hairstyle.

That's why I'm so happy to see a resurgence of elegance in fashion and beauty. The new clothes and hairstyles all point to a suitable look for every age. Today's woman will be able to select figure-flattering, simple dresses with lovely lines. Soft, mid-length hairstyles are also emerging for the woman with likes neither the long mane nor the short cropped do's.

Hair color will also be an important factor for the new soft look. And looking your age, beautifully, means using this beauty aid to maximum advantage. Breck Hair Color, for instance, offers natural-looking, long-lasting color in rich shades ranging from palest blonde and medium brown through darker auburn. This rich, creamy formula has the ability to completely cover gray, not just blend it in.

A famous radio serial used to pose the question, "Can a woman enjoy life after forty?" Today, the answer is yes, for any woman — without her even turning a gray hair.

All Furniture Receives Our Special Attention!

We Take Pride in Our Work

Now We Understand

Many of us have been concerned for a long period about the means and methods of our Town's growth. I am not exactly sure of when the "die was cast", but it is my opinion that it was some time in the 1920's. It was at that time that suburban Springfield began to develop with intensity. It is not necessary to name towns, but we can be quite certain that of the several involved, Agawam's land values were the lowest. It is therefore easy to conclude that it would be the situs for relatively low value real estate.

The second critical period of residential growth followed by second world war. It was about 1945 that Agawam elected its first Planning Board. As with any newly created Board, there had to be a period of orientation and learning. Subdivision developers found a haven in our Town for the construction of low value homes. At that time there were few demands placed on the developers for constructing better type roads, sidewalks, sewer, and water facilities. It was in the early 50's, before the Planning Board gained full control of the situation. But, before this came to be, the die had been cast for the second time.

Our zoning map and laws were revised. Sizes of lots, types of roads, and new controls were affected, causing the development picture to become much brighter. But then a change in the mode of living changed for many. We either turned to intensive apartment construction and built more multiple residences per capita than perhaps any town in the state, or a few of our independent builders continued to struggle against the new opposition of apartments, the rising costs of establishing subdivision facilities, and increased interest rates.

During the last few months, this opposition became too much for some. In our market, it became more difficult to dispose of the higher priced houses. High required deposits and interest rates became an impasse to prospective homeowners.

Just recently, with our Building Inspector, we made a visit to one of our newer subdivisions. We had an opportunity to inspect the type of construction, size of the lot, purchase prices and interest rates of mortgages.

The average building was a three bedroom unit, plus a kitchen and living room. It was framed with spruce, sided with plywood, and covered with composition finish siding. It was building on a 15,000 square foot lot. It had an eight inch poured concrete foundation, dry walls, oak flooring and western pine kitchen cabinets. It was heated with baseboard electric heat and did not have a fireplace or garage. Its outside measurements were 24 x 38 feet.

This building was a close resemblance to some we witnessed built in 1950. They sold then for a bit less than $10,000. I, well remember, that in that era they were sold as rapidly as they could be built. What conditions were involved here in 1970?

This building had already been sold for $20,000. The sale had been guaranteed the builder under the HUD program. The owner must have qualified in the income bracket of less than $8500 per year. He had to make a down payment equal to 1% per annum. Any remaining obligations were to be assumed by the Federal Government. At $20,000 per house—has low income housing come to Agawam?

Figuratively let's either be the builder or the new owner for just a moment. If you were the builder and you owned these same one hundred building lots, you would perhaps agree that a guaranteed sale upon completion of $20,000 per house was a much better deal than a prospective one at $35,000. If you were the low income purchaser, you would probably agree that it was easier for you economically to invest a $200 down payment with a 1% mortgage interest rate than supplying a home for your family in an apartment. And so if both the seller and buyer benefit, the future could well mean that more of such construction will follow.

South School Music Festival

Music Festival Held At South Elementary

The South School with the entire student body in grade 1-6 entertained parents, guests and friends with an outdoor summer Music Festival. The theme was "Let's Take A Trip." The program was under the direction of Mrs. Sylvia Starkie — Elementary vocal music director.

The musical tour started with the first grade students leading the way "South of the Border" featuring the "Mexican Hat Dance." The second grade made arrangements to travel to France with folk songs and dances. The third Scandanavia — fourth grade Germany and the sixth grade Africa.

In the finale the entire student body returned everyone back to the United States with many favorite songs from our own country.

All of the teachers aided the students in the program and in making customs that reflected the country they represented. Songs, dances, folk games, rhythmic accompaniment were of special interest.

The students dedicated this program to their school custodian, Mr. Harold Hutchinson, who is retiring after serving the school since it opened 13 years ago. Mr. Hutchinson knows almost all of the children as well as many of the parents by name and has been a friend to them and to the teachers.

A song in Mr. Hutchinson's honor opened the program sung by grades 1 thru 4 and the 5-6 grades honored him with the closing number. The students also presented him with a gift and a 20 foot scroll signed by every student in the school.

Tribute was also paid by the students to Mrs. Julia Crawford, school principal and Mrs. Starkie for making the program possible.

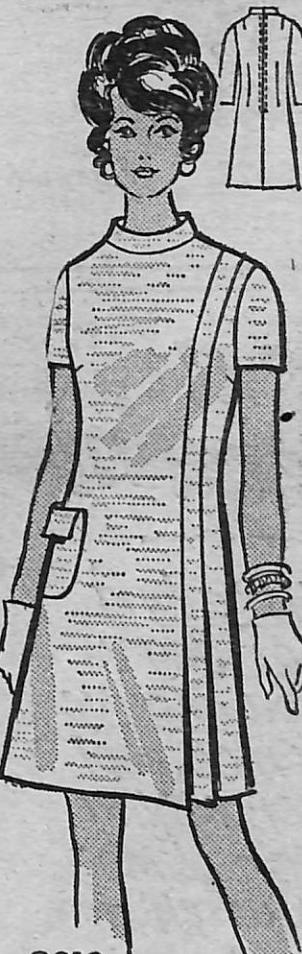

Lilliput Play-School Graduation Exercises

The Lilliput Play-School class of 1970, held their year-end exercises for parents and friends at the Country Barn Playhouse on Thursday, May 21st. Following the program a reception and refreshments were enjoyed outdoors. Mrs. Charles Deliso, Mrs. Frank Stoll, and Mrs. Arthur Psholka of the staff greeted families and visitors; mothers, Mrs. Rosenblatt and Mrs. Leiterman served.

Certificates were awarded the following children: Debby Bailey (in absentia), Debra Beauregard, Diane Cirelli, Brian Deforge, Andy Dimitroff, Robbie Graves, Michael Keeley, Joey Longo, Anna MacLure, Hank Niemiec, Ricky Noyes, Michael St. Germain, Scott Howard, Lisa Laudato, Kimberly Stoll of Agawam; Elsa Freeman, Robert Gasteyer, Todd Leiterman, Crissy Parmalee of Feeding Hills; Tom and Wendy Moylan of Westfield; Chip Rosenblatt of Longmeadow; Jimmy and Danny Walker of Springfield.

Open House for parents and children will be held at the school on Sunday, Sept. 13th. Classes begin Tuesday, Sept. 15th. A very limited number of registrations are available for fall; parents considering nursery school are urged to contact Mrs. Deliso at 734-1285 (943 River Rd.) if information is desired.

Kick The Habit

June is busting out all over. With KICK THE HABIT campaigns against cigarette smoking.

Christmas Seal associations across the country are waging an intensive, month-long campaign to urge smokers to chuck their cigarettes. For a day, a week, a month. Forver, hopefully.

Becoming a nonsmoker takes practice. Most smokers try to quit once. And fail. And try again — and again. It's all practice; and eventually they kick the habit or cut down drastically. But some heavy smokers simply have to quit "cold turkey." They are so hungup on smoking that they have to make a dramatic and complete break.

Smokers who quit successfully adopt certain attitudes. They see quitting as a big plus and smoking as a major minus. Smokers who don't manage to quit still see cigarettes as a kind of friend, always there when needed. In contrast, these smokers resent being deprived of cigarettes.

Two leaflets are available free from your Christmas Seal association. ME QUIT SMOKING, WHY? and ME QUIT SMOKING, HOW? provides the special assist lots of smokers want. Your Association also has information about withdrawal programs and other antismoking activities.

CHECKLIST FOR A CAREFREE VACATION

Your Neighborhood Burglar Can Get Rich

So don't make it any easier for him the next time you and the family go vacationing off somewhere for any extended amount of time.

Burglars rarely select their intended victims at random. They'd much rather have you make their choice for them instead. Forgetting to stop your milk, mail or newspaper deliveries before you leave on your trip can be as careless as leaving home with the front door wide open. It doesn't take much guesswork on the burglar's part to recognize a home left unoccupied when the doorstep's littered with all this unread and unopened material. And even if your home goes unburglarized, the nagging uncertainty caused by failing to perform a few simple pre-trip precautions may turn your carefree vacation into a haunting experience.

So why worry about the things you forgot to take care of before you left when it's so simple just to follow the handy checklist compiled by the editors of this year's Mobil Travel Guide below.

CHECKLIST FOR A CAREFREE VACATION (... or What To Do Before Leaving Your Driveway):

1. Notify local police
2. Stop milk and newspaper deliveries
3. Discontinue garbage pick ups.
4. Arrange for safekeeping or forwarding of mail.
5. Lock all doors and windows (basement too). Leave shades up.
6. Disconnect electrical appliances; however, for protection leave one or more lights connected to an automatic timer to turn them on and off each evening.
7. Turn off all gas jets, including hot water heater.
8. Remove food and defrost refrigerator.
9. Turn off water faucets; drain pipes in severe weather.
10. Turn thermostat to minimum heat requirement.
11. Arrange for care of plants and pets.
12. Store valuables.
13. Leave house key with friend, along with probable itinerary and emergency phone numbers.

SPRING LAMB WITH AN ITALIAN ACCENT

NEW YORK (ED) — Frozen foods and canned conveniences notwithstanding, the best things for the table still reflect the calendar. And one of the nicest traditional specialties of spring is lamb — at its tender best right now and during the months just ahead.

Somehow, the taste of lamb seems to suit the season, too. Just light enough for warming weather, but plenty filling for the hearty appetites encouraged by greater outdoor activity.

Every good cook has her own tricks with leg of lamb and chops. There's more to lamb, though, than those top-price cuts—good news this year of sky-high food prices. Some of the nicest, penny-wise ideas come from abroad. Lamb has always been more plentiful in Europe than beef, and thrifty cooks have evolved dozens of tempting ways to treat the economy cuts.

One of the most interesting comes from Italy—the Tuscan hills where haute cuisine was born, to be exported to France when a Medici married a French king and took her chefs to Paris with her. Like so much Tuscan cooking, Agnello e Cannellini uses beans instead of the more familiar potatoes or rice as a filler and stretcher. The change makes for a taste that's deliciously different—and wonderfully easy to prepare, now that we've all gotten so sophisticated that our supermarkets carry full assortments of foreign-flavored ingredients.

Instead of the long cooking that Florentine homemakers have to use before the beans are ready for blending with the meat, we just open a can—a timesaver that makes it easy to cook with a foreign accent. Classic Agnello e Cannellini has been adapted for American kitchens by the Italian cooks at Progresso. It should be a favorite with your family—just as it is with Tuscan gourmets.

LAMB AND WHITE KIDNEY BEANS (Agnello e Cannellini)

|--|---|
| 4 lamb shanks weighing about 3/4 lb. each or 2 lbs. lamb shoulder, cut in 2" cubes | 1 can (1 lb., 1 oz.) imported Progresso Italian peeled tomatoes |
| 3/4 cup flour | 2 Tbsp. flavored Italian bread crumbs |
| 3/4 cup imported Italian olive oil | 2 Tbsp. grated Parmesan cheese |
| 3 medium onions sliced | 2 cans (1 lb., 4 oz. ea.) Progresso Cannellini beans |
| 3 large cloves garlic finely chopped | Rind of 1 lemon cut into slivers |
| 1 tsp. rosemary | 2 Tbsp. chopped parsley |
| 2 tps. salt | |
| 1/4 tsp. freshly ground pepper | |

Rub flour into lamb. Brown lamb in oil in a heavy kettle on all sides. Remove pieces of meat as browned. Sauté onion and garlic about five minutes, until golden. Add rosemary, salt, pepper, tomatoes and liquid from the can. Return lamb to kettle, cover and cook slowly for two hours. Add bread crumbs and cheese and cook five minutes more. Heat the beans in their own liquid. Place beans in a hot serving dish and arrange lamb in the center of the beans. Sprinkle lemon slivers and parsley on the lamb. (For informal, family meals, beans and their can liquid may be added to casserole holding lamb five minutes before serving. Stir to mix beans with gravy, cook five minutes until beans are heated, top with lemon slivers and parsley and serve from cooking casserole.) Serve with side dish of imported Italian Tuscan peppers. Serves four generously.

Young People's Summer Music

The sound of music will be made this summer by 105 Agawam Pupils registered in the Summer Instrumental Music Program held weekly in the Junior High Band Room starting Tuesday, June 23rd, and continuing for six weeks.

Directed by Mrs. Sally Lowell, Elementary Instrumental Instructor for the Agawam schools, assistance will be given by 4 Professional Music Teachers. They are: Mr. Darcy Davis, Director of Music for Agawam Schools; Lawrence Kublin and Sheldon Wax of Sinfonia Music Studios; and Mrs. Charlotte Dow, String Teacher. Pupils meet with these teachers for 40 minute sectional rehearsals in small classes, in addition to the 1 hour and 20 minute Band and String Ensembles.

Transportation to and from rehearsals is provided mainly by Parents with car pool arrangements, and public transportation.

Mrs. Walter Belboni and Mrs. Richard Rackliffe, Co-presidents of the Summer Instrumental Music Committee of 16 Parents, sponsoring the program, extend a cordial invitation to the general public as well as Parents and families of the performers to attend the Final Concert of the two Bands and the orchestra to be held out of doors "on the green" at the Agawam High School on Tuesday evening, July 28th, at 6:30. The audience is requested to bring their own chairs.

the first five months of 1970, New England Volkswagen dealers retailed 13,895 new vehicles, for a new five-month record, and a 27 per cent increase over the first five months of last year when the flow of vehicles was hampered by a 102-day dock strike.

"Our record-setting sales, and Volkswagen's 7.3 per cent penetration of the New England automobile market is due to the continued interest in small cars and the high quality of VW products and service."

SPORTSMEN'S CORNER

By BILL CHIBA

I recently returned from a most frustrating fishing trip to Peribonka, Quebec, Canada. Peribonka is located on the shores of Lac St. Jean, which is one of the few bodies of water where Ouananiche (land lock salmon) are found in the Western Hemisphere. Ouananiche are a rare breed of salmon that do not stay in the water once you set the hook. Actually they could apply for a flying license. Their acrobatics are what make anglers travel 6 to 7 hundreds miles just to experience the thrill of having one on the end of a fishing line.

Agawam was well represented on the lake. Sam Provo, Earl Provost, Elio Vicello, Renzo Balboni, Ray Barberie, Henry Guidi, Herman Mutti made the scene every morning along with Sherm Lowell, Larry Fountain, and Steve Lendway of Springfield and Longmeadow.

Sherm Lowell and I arrived at Kay Langevin's Park Peribonka Saturday afternoon. We were preceded by Provo, Balboni, Covell, Barberie, Mutti, Lendway, Guidi, and Fountain... Earl Provost and Elio Vicello arrived after us. It was raining on our arrival, and it rained for 6 days with only a three hour let-up when the sun shone briefly. The fishing was very spotty. I took three salmon for the length of stay, Sherm two; Herman and Steve 6 each (could call them the champs and the rest of us chumps).

This is the first year that I have had bad fishing in Lake St. Jean... previous years have been spectacular. I blame it on the late ice out which upset the spawning cycle of the smelt (which the salmon fed on ravenously) plus the over abundant amount of rain. The lake was up about 3 feet and very dirty from the silt that was washing in the rivers that empty into the lake.

The high light of the trip was the episodes of being lost in a deep fog one morning. Herm Mutti and Steve Lendway started out from the camp heading for the point on the lake... 30 minutes later they were back at the camp having traveled in a complete circle. Started out again for the same destination and again ended up back at the camp. Being very determined individuals, they tightened their rain coats and set out again for the point. Forty minutes later, completely lost in the fog, they bumped into Henry Guidi, who had left before them the first time around. Henry ended up river two miles in a log jam, back tracked and believe it or not met Captain Herm and 1st mate Steve in front of the camp. They gave up and went in for coffee.

The next two to three weeks should see a lot of salmon in the shallows. The smelt should start their spawning run up the Peribonka River and the small minnows should start frequenting the shallow water along the shores.

I suspect that I will make the trip again next year.

Regular Card At Lebanon Valley

WEST LEBANON, N. Y.—Action is on tap at the Lebanon Valley Speedway this Saturday night as the Sportsman, Limited Sportsman and Formula VW classes vie for their share of the big $6350 weekly purse shared by all competing drivers. A big $1000 goes to the winner of the 35 lap Sportsman feature each week.

Sportsman drivers to get that "grand feeling" to date are Doug Garrison, Hudson, N. Y., Ernie Marshall, Pound Ridge, N. Y., Butch Jolley, Pownal, Vt., Eddie Delmolino, Great Barrington, Mass., and Tommy Corellis, Rensselaer, N. Y., who has captured two wins.

Jack Farquhar, Ephratah, N. Y., has placed second in two mains to date and is expected to put the #63 in the winner's circle before long.

Carlton Hughes, Troy, N. Y., currently fourth in the point standings, is also winless thus far as is Jerry Townley, Catskill, N. Y., who is tied for fifth place in the standings with Farquhar.

Competition is growing keener in the Limited Sportsman division although two drivers copped three each of the first six features.

Johnny DeBell, Chatham, N. Y. and Danny Sanchez, Rensselaer, N. Y., will have their work cut out for them now that Tommy Van Tassel, Ghent, N. Y., has taken over the reins of the #167, driven to the point championship in this division last year by Barry Purdy, Bennington, Vt., who has now moved up to the Sportsman ranks.

Still seeking to end Corellis' win streak in the Formula VW class are Bob Middleton, Averill Park, N. Y., Bob DeLong and Dan Rocket, Hyde Park, N. Y., Shorty LaClare, Melrose, N. Y., Bob Hackel, Rensselaer, N. Y. and Tom Clark, Danbury, Conn.

The action on the high banks gets underway promptly at 8 p.m. with the first heat on the track. Adult admission is a low $3 with children 5-11 admitted for $1.00.

"Fished-Out?" Try Spooning!

By Tom Andrews

You've probably complained more than once about "fished-out" lakes in your area. I've heard this particular gripe thousands of times all over the U. S. Maybe I'd get more excited about it if it weren't for the fact that anglers were talking just as excitedly about "fished-out" lakes when I first baited a hook over 50 years ago!

What most people mean when they set up a howl about the lack of fish in local waters is that the fish don't bite as readily as they did some years back. Well, nothing is the same today as it was yesterday. We just have to fish a little longer and a lot smarter to do as well as we once did.

But my method of fishing "smarter" isn't to try every new lure on the market. No, sir, I just stock up on a few basic artificial baits—jigs, poppers and spoons—that have proved their worth.

My particular favorite for so-called "fished-out" waters is Johnson's Silver Minnow with a pork trailer. You can put this trusty spoon to work in waters of almost any description and come out a winner.

Suppose you have a few Silver Minnows of proper weight to match your favorite tackle, plus pork trailer or "frog", or the rubber skirts and plastic worms in various colors that are proving so productive.

Let's assume you are within an hour's drive of one or more lakes stocked by your state's conservation department—but which are known as "fished-out" waters because there's more take than put.

Whether you fish from shore or a boat, cast the Silver Minnow and its trailer as far as you can (and the weight of this forged spoon always assures good casting distance). Let the lure sink till the line goes slack, then begin a slow or medium-speed retrieve with frequent pauses.

If you're in a boat, search for weed beds to cast into. Then try the extra-slow retrieve that's just about guaranteed to dig out any lunkers settled in the weeds.

There are still fish in "fished-out" waters. Not as many as before, certainly. But with a tried-and-true Silver Minnow, a pork trailer and a bit of patience, you're going to prove to yourself and your fishing buddies that trips to the wilds of Canada or Mexico aren't really necessary to fill those stringers!

tures and the 20 lap Late Model Sportsman feature each week.

The Lucky Hell Drivers Thrill Show will be in for one night only on June 21st. Buddy Wagner with his all new Mustangs will put on 22 death defying events prior to the stock car show.

The annual fireworks display is scheduled for Sunday night June 28th in addition to the full program of NASCAR stock cars.

Sunday night July 5th a demolition derby will also be on the program of motorized thrills and chills.

The Grand National Stock Cars, direct from the nation's super speedways, will be in for a 200 lap race on Thursday night July 9. All the stars and cars of the NASCAR Grand National Division are expected to be on hand for this, the only appearance in New England for the 1970 season of those super stars of racing.

The management of the Thompson Speedway has boosted the weekly purse to a whopping $5200, the highest weekly guaranteed purse in the New England area. A full field of cars is expected to contest the events each week with the winners of the Twin 25 lap Modified feature taking home $400 each for their efforts. The Late Model Sportsman feature will pay the winner $300.

All the drivers entered in the night's racing events will share in the large purse.

A small seaport town in Italy was in impoverished condition until monks in a nearby monastery decided to try to help the community. They opened a fish-and-chip restaurant as the citizens could grow the potatoes on their land and catch the fish from the sea, and the townspeople entered into the plan with enthusiasm.

The eating place became famous and the town began to prosper. As time went on, its fame spread and tourists flocked to the little town.

One day, a wealthy American woman appeared and ordered a meal. She was exchanging pleasantries with the monks, and turning to one, asked, "Are you the fish friar?"

He replied, "No, madam. I'm the chip monk."

THIS WEEK'S

BEST BUYS from

MASSACHUSETTS FARMS

Courtesy of Massachusetts Department of Agriculture

The vegetable crop looks good across the state, says the Mass. Dept. of Agriculture, with about 35 per cent of total acreage already planted. Blueberries and strawberries have set well, and both promise bumper crops.

Peas are now in full flower, right on schedule to go with the fresh salmon on the Fourth of July.

The fruit tree bloom in Bay State orchards was heavy, but the set — pollination to bring forth fruit — appears spotty.

Best Buys this week, with heavy market receipts, are native asparagus, Boston lettuce, radishes, and greenhouse cucumbers and tomatoes. The rhubarb harvest has peaked, and supplies will now begin to dwindle.

Extremely popular, as the season begins for the salad crops, is native Boston lettuce. Used for salads, of course, it is also an excellent sandwich filler, and for hearts of lettuce with your favorite dressing. The rich green color of its outer leaves is highly attractive, and some creative homemakers even use it as a centerpiece. Developed in England, Boston lettuce shows the creamy, buttery color on the inside leaves for which the "butter" heads are famous. A Best Buy — priced on produce counters at 19 to 23 cents a head.

OLD FASHIONED LEAF LETTUCE BOWL (For 8)
3/4 heads Boston lettuce, wash, dried & chilled
2 cups chopped green onions (scallions)
4 hard cooked eggs, coarsely chopped
6 slices lean bacon
1/2 cup cider vinegar
1 tsp. salt

Fresh black pepper (to taste)
2 tbs. light brown sugar

Break greens lightly — do not cut — pile high in salad bowl. Top with eggs and scallions. Pan fry bacon until crisp, remove from fat, drain, crumble, set aside. To fat in pan, add vinegar, salt, several grinds pepper from the mill, and brown sugar. Heat to boiling, simmer 2 mins., remove. At serving time, reheat to boiling, pour over prepared salad bowl. Toss until lettuce is wilted. Add bacon bits. Adjust for seasoning, especially as to pepper. Serve at once.

Dessert Fit For A Queen

Sponge cake layers put together with jam and sprinkled with confectioners sugar is a dessert named after Queen Victoria.

Victoria Sandwich
1 1/2 cups sifted flour
3/4 cup sugar
1/4 cup corn starch
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 eggs, separated
1/2 cup corn oil
1/2 cup water

Grease 2 (8 x 1 1/2-inch) layer cake pans; line with waxed paper. Sift flour, sugar, corn starch, baking powder and salt together. Combine egg yolks, corn oil and water lightly with fork and stir into dry ingredients. Beat egg whites until stiff peaks form; fold into flour mixture. Pour into prepared pans. Bake in 375° F. (moderate) oven 25 to 30 minutes or until top springs back when touched. Remove from pans; cool. Sandwich layers together with raspberry jam and sprinkle with confectioners sugar.

"AROUND THE MOOSE LODGE"

The Pancake and Sausage breakfast held this past Sunday was quite successful with loads of familiar faces from Agawam. Among the guests were District #5 Vice-President and Mrs. Francis Greany and Mr. and Mrs. Bergeron from the Chicopee Lodge.

The Chicopee Falls anniversary night was celebrated by over 300 Moose and their guests. Let's make Agawam Lodge anniversary night on June 20th, as equally successful. Roast beef is being served.

GAY GAILLARDIAS

Fiesta is the name of this gaillardia which has smoky-red petals, tipped yellow.

Gaillardias are known for the profusion of flowers they produce and for the length of time over which they continue to bloom. "All summer long" is not an idle phrase when applied to these plants.

There are both annual and perennial gaillardias, both equally easy to grow from seeds sown where the plants are to bloom.

Gaillardias prefer light, open soil and must have both sun-light and air. With these conditions met, they'll provide you with a constant show of blossoms for cutting or to make your garden gay.

Single-flowered gaillardias have just one row of petals but double ones are rounded heads filled with petals and are generally more popular with gardeners.

While gaillardia flowers normally are 2½ to 3 inches across, those of some tetraploid varieties are 4 inches in diameter.

Flower colors are various shades of yellow to orange and a series of off-reds: brick, claret and "smoky." They combine well with most other flower colors — another point in their favor.

My Neighbors

"Have you got songs of the open road on tape?"

A baby rabbit had been pestering its mother all day. Finally the exasperated parent replied:

"You were pulled out of a magician's hat — now stop asking me questions."
